RTRFM'S WOODSTOCK ROCK PROGRAM CELEBRATES 30 YEARS ON AIR

RTRFM is proud to celebrate thirty years on air of one of the station's flagship specialist music programs – Woodstock Rock – with a huge night of music at Mojo's Bar in North Fremantle on Friday 17 January from 8pm to late.

The event will feature special one-off collaborative performances celebrating the music of the late 60s and early 70s. Containing members of Deep River Collective, Shallow Creek will play a mind-melting set of psych and blistering prog workouts. Local supergroup The Children of Nuggets will present a selection of garage rock artyfacts from the original Nuggets era, featuring members of the High Leary's, Cheater Five, Three Orange Whips, and Tenderhooks. Kevin Chennell and Sam Blight will offer up pastoral folk and protest songs that cut to the heart of the social and political concerns of the times.

And to cap it all off, laying down everything from fuzz-rock stompers to psychedelic wig-outs, the Woodstock Rock DJs will play between sets in the Mojos main room, as well as keeping things groovy outside in the beer garden. Your musical gurus for the evening will be Captain Trips, Deep Purple Pete, The Fabulous Furry Freak, Paisley Ray, Richie Rich, and Rhymin' Simon.

Woodstock was an event that defined a generation, and became a signifier of everything that the 1960s stood for politically and socially. The music connected to those three days of peace and love in a field in upstate New York has become some of the most celebrated and important of any era.

For thirty years RTRFM has celebrated the music surrounding that cultural moment, focusing on music created specifically between 1965 and 1975. Woodstock Rock is dedicated to unearthing relics from the original psychedelic era, delving deeper than those handful of artists who are celebrated as defining the era, to rediscover those lost gems of the original psychedelic movement. Dipping into psych, prog, fusion, folk and protest music, Woodstock Rock is your weekly musical trip through the minds eye with the controls set to the heart of the sun every Thursday night from 8pm to 10pm on RTRFM 92.1 – The Sound Alternative.
